We are to lose Joe, but wish him success in his nev enture, but most sincerely hope that he will shortly return to our village, as we need such enterprising and go-a-head men as he to make our town prosper. What is our loss is surely Hillsboro's gain.—Lessourg Buckeye.

The sermon presched by Dr. Jos. Trimble at the M. E. Church isst Sunday was clear, foreible and eloquant. The lesson was from the choice of Mosse to preferring to go with his own people into the brick-yards as a slave rather than appear in princely raiment as the son of Pharson's daughter. Toward the close Mr. Trimble introduced a chapter from his own history, telling of his experience in accepting the call to preach and in presching his first sermon to a Hillbord coagregation. The church was comfortably filled, and the entire service was highly interesting.

A Goose Story With a Moral.

The editor of the Gazette calls us to task in last week's issue in regard to a statement that Judge Dittey had bound Mr. Shane over o Common Pleas Court for stealing poultry, and proceeds to state that, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Shane is a relative of the Newmans and had the "Mutual Benefit, Protective, Aid and Alibi Association" on hand in force to prove an alibi, the Judge failed to see it their way, and assessed a fine on the basis of five dollars per goose and ten dollars per Bronze turkey, amounting with costs to $253, the moral of which was that it was an expensive luxury to said association, especially if you should be brought before the Gasette in his capacity of Probate Judge. On inquir we failed to find where Mr.Shane had paid the above amount in good, hard Newmans and had the "Mutual Benefit, Prohad paid the above amount in good, hard eash on account of dues and membership fees in said association, and as we have an institution where gentlemen who contract debts of honor of this character which they are unable to liquidate in coin of the realm can, by devoting a certain portino of their time each day to the memory of Mr. McAdam, create a sinking fund which will in due process of time wipe out said indebtedness, we naturally expected to find Mr. Shane so-journing at the corner of Court and Short streets. But alas! he was not there, and this only goes to prove that it is expensive to the fuz-payers and not to Mr. Shane for him to belong to the M., B., P., A. and A. A.

MORAL.—The moral of this is, that it takes a great man to "catch 'em comin' or goin," and the people of this county are fortunate in having a man who can pose in his own paper as a high moral reformer and "a man who," and then as judge 'and political bees pay his membership fee in a Mr., B., F., A. and A. A. by allowing the penalty of infraction of the law to fall into "insecuous desurfude."

The following is about a fair sample of the almost daily customers that a postmaster in this county has to deal with. A few days since a couple of colored damsels stepped into the post office and each fired at the obliging Mr. R. C. K., the usual question: "Any letter for me, or any of our folks," to which came the many-time repeated answer: "No letter for you, nor any of your folks," they taking it for granted that the P.
